2. Teaching Learning and Evaluation

2.3.1. Teaching Learning Process

2.3.1. Students' Centric Methods

There is a growing enthusiasm for experiential and participative learning among the students and faculty. Student's centric methods of teaching learning are inquiry based and cooperative learning rather than direct instructions in which teacher and students play active role in the process. They include a range of activities in which students play an active part than just listening. Being based on the students' experience and participation, they are viewed as 'more highly developed thinking and problem solving skills' The choice of teaching method depends on university curriculum and classroom situation. However, the following methods are used in teaching learning process.

Sr. No.	Method used	Description
1.	Students Seminar	Almost all the faculty conduct seminars in which students do take part as paper presenter and participant.
2.	Group Discussion	All faculty use discussion before the beginning of lecture. The faculty interacts with the students on the earlier period teaching.
3.	Role play	The department of English used the method on 5 th September 2023 and in the month of February 2024 as an extension activity.
4.	Field trip	The department of geography and History arranged field trips. The Dept. of Marathi visited Tahsil Office and understood the use of Marathi in office communication and correspondence.
5.	Project	The department of Geography and History use this method. This is a part of Environmental studies as per university curriculum.
6.	Poetry Recitation	The department of English conducted two sessions of poetry recitation.
7.	Assignment	All faculty use this method

12.	Interactive	The method was commonly used in teaching by all faculty.

13.	Question – answer	All the faculty used this method in teaching learning process
Other Methods
